Dear Educator,

The Barnes & Noble Summer Reading Program is marking its seventeenth year with a special celebration of the power of books to expand horizons. Once again, we're partnering with educators like you to inspire readers in the first through sixth grades to have a summer filled with reading adventures—and earn a FREE book!

This year our theme encourages students to let books transport them to the most exciting destination of all: the imagination. The activities in this Summer Reading kit are designed to reinforce learning, nurture skills, and motivate students to extend their reading through the summer vacation. Whether they are staying home or traveling, students can pick the titles they want to read and proceed at their own pace.

Everything you'll need to introduce your students to Barnes & Noble Summer Reading is in this package, including classroom activities that build on the good work you've done all year long. You'll find downloadable versions of this kit and the Reading Journal online at BN.COM/summerreading

Enjoy your vacation—but first invite your students to have fun and earn a FREE book as they plot their course to Imagination's Destination.

ACTIVITIES FOR KIDS

Activity sheets are included in this kit. They are also available online at BN.COM/summerreading

1. Find Your Favorites

Identifying Authors and Illustrators

Using the questions on Activity Sheet 1, ask your students to think about what makes their favorite writers and artists so special.

Ask students to recommend a book by their favorite author or illustrator to their classmates, and have them describe the reasons why they think it would appeal to others.

Ask older students to imagine the title of their favorite author's or illustrator's next book. Have them compose the opening of this book in the style of the author or illustrator and share their ideas with the class.

2. Fiction and Non-Fiction

Exploring Different Kinds of Books

Reintroduce genres to your class—mystery, biography, fantasy, history, humor. Which are fiction? Which are non-fiction? Discuss the characteristics of each genre and ask students to pick their favorites.

Ask your students to fill out Activity Sheet 2. You can encourage the use of classroom tools or use this activity as the starting point for a library lesson. Go over the books the students have listed. Discuss which types of books they like and which new genres they might like to explore.

Bonus Activity: Your students can “produce” a TV or radio commercial, or write an ad for a newspaper or magazine, describing their favorite genre. Let them decide which program or publication would reach the most receptive audience, then have them perform their skits or post their ads on a bulletin board.

3. Playing Roles

Imagining People and Places

Ask students to write the names of their favorite characters from books on slips of paper, and add others you know all students will be familiar with. Have each student pick a name and take turns acting out the clue—with no words or sounds—until someone guesses the right answer.

Ask students to fill out Activity Sheet 3. As above, you can encourage the use of classroom tools or use this activity to initiate a library lesson.

To spark classroom collaboration, ask students to choose “destinations” they'd like to travel to this summer. These can be real places, imaginary lands, historical periods, or even future careers. Ask students to help each other find books related to their “destinations.”

4. Realms of Imagination

Mapping Your Story

Discuss how our imaginations shape our sense of what is possible and how nourishing the imagination can inspire us in unexpected ways.

Ask students to complete Activity Sheet 4, treating elements of both their real lives and their reading experiences as a country to be mapped.

Bonus Activity: Have your students turn their maps into a “Me Collage,” transferring it to a poster board and pasting photos and cut-outs to further express their interests and personalities.

5. The Reading Journal

Participating in the Summer Reading Program

Discuss with your students the kinds of books they might enjoy reading over the summer. You know better than anyone which titles will best meet the needs of your class.

Explain to your students that Barnes & Noble started its Summer Reading Program to offer kids a real reward for reading—a chance to earn a free book.

Distribute the Reading Journals.

The rest is simple—students enter the names of their books as they read them. When they've read eight books, they can return the completed form to any Barnes & Noble bookstore to get a free book (see form for details). Parent/guardian signatures are required.

Upon completion of their Reading Journal, students will earn A FREE BOOK

Dear Reader,

A book is a magical thing. Once you open one up and start to read, you can find yourself transported to any place in the world, any time in history, or any realm of fantasy an author can invent or your imagination can envision. The best part is that you can reach the most exciting destinations without ever leaving home.

The Barnes & Noble Summer Reading Program is here to help you on your way, encouraging you to read books of your own choosing and earn a FREE book, simply by following these three easy steps:

1. Read any eight books this summer and record them in this Barnes & Noble Summer Reading Imagination's Destination Journal. Be sure to let us know to whom you would recommend each book, and why.
2. Bring your completed journal to a Barnes & Noble store between May 21st and September 3rd, 2013.
3. Choose your FREE reading adventure from the book list featured on the back of the journal.

ACTIVITY 4

Realms of Imagination

Reading can lead us to all sorts of destinations, both actual and invented. Use the space below to plan your ideal summer vacation as a map, mixing elements of your real life (such as playgrounds, beaches, or get-togethers with friends and relatives) with places you like to visit when you read, such as the past, distant countries, or realms of fantasy. Draw a circle around the destinations you'd most like to spend time in this summer, and illustrate how you might get there: by car, bus, train, plane—or book!
